1. It was learned from a short history of the VEB Stalinal that no further work had been done on the canal and harbor project originally planned. The hutment camps, which had been scheduled to remain and be provided to serve as vacation camps or for similar purposes, have been razed with the exception of only a few isolated huts. No continuation of work on the project was apparently intended. The piles driven in at the roots (sic) of the jetties meanwhile fell into ruin and disappeared.
2. A concrete road was built from Prora to Sassnitz. It runs along the coast, is 6 meters wide and has a concrete surface 20 centimeters thick.
